

Coughing

"I was given up to die with quick consumption. I then began to use Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I improved at once, and am now in perfect health."—Chas. E. Hartman, Gibbstown, N. Y.

It's too risky, playing with your cough.

The first thing you know it will be down deep in your lungs and the play will be over. Begin early with Ayer's Cherry Pectoral and stop the cough.

Three sizes: 25c, enough for an ordinary cold; 50c, just right for bronchitis, hoarseness, hard colds, etc.; $1, most economical for chronic cases and to keep on hand. J. C. AYER CO., Lowell, Mass.

"TWO BLACK BEAUTIES."

Bush Raised a Laugh.

Charlie Bush perpetrated the first joke the other day that he has gotten off since he was deprived of his nomination for circuit judge. He was at a dinner party when someone at the table asked him who in his opinion would be elected Pope? "Can't tell," was the quick reply, "until I find out who is for," naming a local politician. The crowd saw the point.

The boy stood on the burning deck.
Well, suppose the youngster did?
What else could any one expect,
Of almost any kid?
If he had owned a Surprise Spring
They'd found him laying down:
Of all the beds they are the thing,
Call and see them when in town

DARK HORSE.

Cardinal Sarto Elected Pope On Seventh Ballot.

Vannutelli's Strength Thrown to Him—Takes Title of Pius X.

Rome, Aug. 4.—Cardinal Joseph Sarto, Patriarch of Venice, is the successor of Pope Leo XIII.

He was chosen to the papal throne on the seventh ballot, which was taken this morning.

The new Pope announced that he would assume the title of Pius X.

Pope Pius is 65 years old. He was born at Riese, on June 3d, 1835, and was created a Cardinal in 1893.

He is one of the most learned of the Cardinals, and is noted for his liberal views. His charities have gained him the affection of the multitudes in his See.

The election at this moment looks like a compromise, as the Pope (as Cardinal Sarto) had taken little part in the politics of the Vatican.

As Pope Pius X. it is more than probable that the new pontiff will devote himself to the religious affairs of the church and will pay small attention to politics except to urge conciliation among opposing influences, wherever possible.

Like Leo, the new Pope has promise of long life. His aged mother is still alive. She lives at Riese, Sarto's birthplace, and she has often been visited at her humble home there by her son.

A good story of the new Pope is told here this morning. Just before he started from Venice for Rome to attend the conclave, he was called upon by some friends who extended their good wishes and hoped that he might be chosen Leo's successor.

"Oh, no," he smilingly replied. "I will buy a return ticket when I leave Venice."

Details of the voting are not yet known. It is learned, however, that Cardinals Herrera, Cretoni, Langenieux, Couille, Mocenni, and Svampa were too ill to go to the voting chamber.

The crowd that gathered at St. Peter's Square this morning was the largest that had assembled since the conclave began last Saturday. Fully 12,000 people were there by 10 o'clock, and the throng was constantly being augmented.

Cardinal Macchi, the Secretary of Apostolic Briefs, appeared on the inside balcony of St. Peter's at 11:40 o'clock, and made the announcement. Later he gave it to the crowd outside and the people shouted "Who." The name was not heard by the greater part of the throng. Macchi repeated the words in Italian in a louder voice, saying: "Cardinal Sarto, who calls himself Pius X."

At ten minutes after 12 this afternoon Pope Pius X. appeared and blessed the populace amid acclamations. There was an enormous crowd assembled upon the piazza.

Cardinal Guiseppe Sarto was born in Riese, province of Venice, July 2, 1835. He is very learned in ecclesiastical doctrines; is modest and energetic; is a good administrator and organizer in the patron arts, and his seriousness has always been proverbial. Early in the month of April, this year, Pope Leo, in conversation with Father Perosi, the Italian composer, said, in speaking of Cardinal Sarto, "Hold him very dear, Perosi, as in the future he will be able to do much for you. We firmly believe that he will be our successor. He has been known for many years as one of the greatest preachers in the church."

The election of the Patriarch of Venice was unanimous. After Monday's ballots, when he had 37 votes, it was a foregone conclusion that he was the only candidate sufficiently acceptable to all to secure the necessary two-thirds, which the laws of the church require.

When the result of the ballot was announced in the conclave Cardinal Sarto was so overcome with emotion and so touched by the unlooked for confidence reposed in him that he could no longer control his feelings and then, to the surprise of all, he broke down, declaring that such responsibility and honor were not for him and must be refused if offered. Tears rolled down his cheeks and he seemed firm in his determination to refuse the dignity. He was so palpably sincere that consternation reigned in the conclave and the cardinals spent the whole evening and far into the night in convincing him that his election was the will of Providence and that he must accept.

On the first ballot this morning, the election was made by a general movement in his favor.

The new pontiff is a man of simple origin, and although not a very prominent candidate, he had been frequently mentioned as one of the many Cardinals who might be taken up as a compromise. In several respects he resembles his venerable predecessor, notably in his reputation for culture and piety. Having been associated with no factions, this fact alone won him much favor from foreign cardinals who were without an especial candidate. Pius X. was humorously described as "a country mouse who could not possibly find his way about Rome."

JURY MADE UP

But Defense is Hard to Please and Will Object.

Georgetown, Aug. 6.—The Commonwealth yesterday accepted a jury made up, in the Caleb Powers case at Georgetown, from fifty-five special veniremen summoned from Bourbon county. The attorneys for the defense announced their intention of challenging the entire venire at this morning's session of court, and will file an affidavit in support of their action. It is presumed the affidavit will relate to the political complexion of the jurors, all of whom are said to be Democrats. There was a general disinclination among the veniremen to serve as jurors. That part of the first day's venire which was not exhausted was held for further possible use tomorrow, along with the second hundred men, who will arrive from Bourbon county.

FROM JOURNALISM

Col. Baxter Retires By Sale of the Nashville News.

Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 3.—It was announced to-day that Col. Jere Baxter, who resigned the presidency of the Tennessee Central railroad some time ago, had also retired from the ownership and editorship of the Nashville Daily News.

Col. Baxter disposed of his interest in the paper some days since. His successor or successors, whoever they may be, have not yet been announced, but it is generally understood that the News will be continued. According to a publication made to-day, the News has not been a financial success.

GILBERT IN LEAD.

Seems to Have Best Chance For Nomination for Senator.

Paducah, Ky., Aug. 3.—Returns were received today from the precinct conventions held in the counties of the Third Senatorial district Saturday, to choose delegates to the Democratic convention at Cerulean Springs next Friday. Livingston for C. C. Grassham, of Smithland, 8 votes; Trigg for Felix Grasty, of Cadiz, 8 votes; Calloway for J. W. Gilbert, of Murray, 14 votes. Lyon uninstructed, 5 votes. Necessary to nominate, 18 votes. Lyon will probably go to Gilbert, insuring his nomination for Senator to succeed N. W. Utley.

MILITARY MEETING.

Most Expert Infantry and Cavalry in the Country.

Wonderful Exhibitions by Real Veterans and Amateur Soldiers

From the day of the little one-ring circus with its two or three riders, single clown and few cages of animals to the present-day enormous institution is but a small matter in years but in change of character it is a far cry indeed.

Now the Adam Forepaugh and Sells Brother Enormous Shows United are taking another step forward and are giving a military exhibition that is of extraordinary interest and will appear especially to those who are watching the United States as they are stepping still farther into the charmed circus of world's power.

Both the infantry and cavalry are represented in their military display. The first is in the form of the now world-famous Aurora Zouaves—Illinois boys who have carried the banner of American freedom through all the countries of Europe. Organized about fifteen years ago they set about to attain unusual proficiency in the art of drilling. After two years' labor they entered all the interstate contests and were invariably victorious. They then went to Europe, where the military authorities of the Old World capitalists pronounced them the best-drilled company of soldiers in the world. They are famous not only for their wonderful speed of movement in both evolution and tactics but also for the absolute precision of every motion made by them.

The cavalry contingent of these shows is furnished by Captain The report was adopted and John Bader. Captain Baker is a soldier with a most remarkable record both in the regular and in the volunteer army. He was a member of the Sixth U. S. Cavalry when stationed at Washington when the riding of its troops was the official show feature of the National capital. Subsequently he earned his laurels with Roosevelt's Rough Riders and in the Philippines and in China.

Beside the regulation riding of cavalry drill these brave horsemen perform all sorts of feats upon the bare back of their horses while they wear their uniform, boots and all. It has often been said that their riding would make the riding of a circus bareback rider seem simple indeed. As these shows have the best circus riders in the world, and they will appear on the same programme, it will be an opportunity, and the first one ever offered, to see them almost at the same moment and contrast their respective style in daring and skill as equestrians.

Other features of the great shows will be the world-famous Diavolo in his sensational loop the loop on a bicycle; Minting, the unicycle marvel, forty famous clowns and a galaxy of other stars. The date of the great shows here is Thursday, Aug. 27.

RIPE IN YEARS.

Mrs. Stuart Survived Her Husband Seventy-Five Years.

Mrs. Lulicia Stuart, aunt of Dr. E. N. Fruit, of this city, and mother of the late J. J. Stuart, died last Sunday night at her home in Pembroke. She was 93 years old and a member of the Baptist church. She was a native of this county and for several years lived with her husband in the Dulin neighborhood, a few miles east of Crofton. Her husband died about 75 years ago. She had been living near Pembroke for 40 years.

Mrs. Stuart was a much esteemed woman and leaves a host of friends. She had enjoyed good health until about a year ago.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon by Rev. A. R. Bond and the interment took place in the Pembroke cemetery.

Richardson-Wilkins.

John P. Richardson and Miss Ida Wilkins, a runaway couple from Hopkinsville, were united in marriage here by 'Squire Smith Monday, says the Clarksville Times-Journal.

"BUG" WOOD

Died at The Western Asylum, Last Tuesday.

Was One of The Oldest Patients In Period Of Residence.

J. E. Wood, better known as Bug Wood, died Tuesday afternoon at the Western Kentucky Asylum for the insane at Hopkinsville. He had been in his usual good health up to a few days ago, when he was taken with a congestive chill from which his death resulted.

Deceased was about fifty-five years old and was a former resident of this city. He had been in the asylum for about nineteen years.

Mr. Wood was a brother-in-law to Capt. T. A. Potter, of this city. He is survived by a widow and two sons, Messrs. Harry and Asher Wood, who reside in Louisville. He is also survived by a sister, Mrs. Deborah Donegan, of Texas. The remains arrived in the city this morning at 9:10 o'clock. The burial took place this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Hays cemetery at the Edley place, near the city. The services were conducted by Rev. J. F. Redford.

RECALLS A STIRRING ADVENTURE.

In the death of Mr. Wood a stirring adventure which was experienced by him shortly after the civil war, and which is said to be the cause of his mind being effected, is recalled. Mr. Woods and another man whose name is not remembered were driving through the country near Louisville late one night, when they were attacked by robbers. The man with Woods was shot and killed by the brigands, and Woods himself barely escaped with his life, several bullets passing through his clothing. They were robbed of a large sum of money. Woods succeeded in escaping with his life, but shortly afterward his mind became affected, and inasmuch as his thoughts continually dwelt upon the experience with the robbers, his derangement is attributed to that.

About a year ago he was reported by the authorities at the asylum to be dead, and the arrangements were made here for his funeral and burial. The remains would in all probability have been shipped to this city and interred, had it not been for Woods' love of a violin. Captain Potter telephoned an officer at the asylum to send the violin which Wood had owned to Bowling Green. He was a great lover of the violin, and played the instrument a great deal before and after he went to the asylum. An investigation revealed the fact that it was not the man known here who was dead, but another man named J. E. Wood whose home was in Western Kentucky. It all became known through the violin, inasmuch as that was the manner by which the two men were distinguished in the asylum.—Bowling Green News.

"CALAMITY JANE" IS DEAD.

Her Last Bequest is that She be Buried Beside Hickox.

Deadwood, S. D., Aug. 1.—A noted female character, "Calamity Jane," known on the frontier since '70, died this afternoon at Terry, near Deadwood, of inflammation of the bowels. Before death she requested that she be buried beside "Wild Bill" Hickox, who was murdered here in '76. Her name was Mrs. Jane Burke, and her last husband, who was younger than she, is in Denver. She has a married daughter in North Dakota.

CONGRESSMAN LIVINGSTON

Says Per-na is a Splendid Catarrhal Tonic.

COLONEL L. I. LIVINGSTON.

Colonel L. I. Livingston, Member of the Industrial Commission and the leading Democratic member of the Committee on Appropriations in the House of Representatives, whose home is at Atlanta, Ga., writes:

"I take pleasure in joining with General Wheeler, Congressman Brewer and others in recommending Peruna as an excellent tonic and a catarrh cure."—Col. L. I. Livingston.

Catarrh Cured.

All phases of catarrh, acute or chronic, are promptly and permanently cured. It is through its operation upon the nervous system that Peruna has attained such a world-wide reputation as a sure and reliable remedy for all phases of catarrh wherever located.

Mr. Jas. O. Morin, 1179 Ontario street, Montreal, Canada, writes:

"Peruna is certainly a great catarrh remedy. It cured me of catarrh of the head and I gladly endorse it. Canadians are peculiarly afflicted with this disease and for years the doctors have tried to overcome it with elixirs, powders and pills, but Peruna has solved the question and since the medicine has been established here hundreds of people have been cured of catarrh."—Jas. O. Morin.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice free.

THE MADISONVILLE FAIR

On This Week With Splendid Attractions.

The Madisonville fair is booming this week. The attendance is very large each day, the attractions fine and the racing good. Some of the fastest horses in this and adjoining states are on the grounds. A special train is run from this city every morning. A large number people from this city and county will go down today and a much larger crowd will go tomorrow.

The fair is proving the best ever held in Hopkins county.

Better Than Gold.

"I was troubled for several years with chronic indigestion and nervous debility," writes F. J. Green of Lancaster, N. H. "No remedy helped me until I began using Electric Bitters, which did me more good than all the medicine I ever used. They have kept my wife in excellent health for years. She says Electric Bitters are just splendid for female trouble; that they are a grand tonic and invigorator for weak run down women. No other medicine can take its place in our family." Try them. Only 50c. Satisfaction guaranteed by R. C. Hardwick

NEW TEACHER

Will be Chosen by School Board Tonight.

Mrs. Francis L. Goff, nee Miss Lula Graves, has resigned her position as a teacher in the high school department of the city public schools, and the board at its monthly meeting tonight will fill the vacancy. It is probable that a teacher in the grammar grades will be promoted to the high school and a new teacher elected to the vacancy thus created. There are several applicants.
